

BIG IMPACT ANY SCHEDULE

Your impact doesn't have to be measured in hours. It's measured in the curiosity you spark in a student. Whether you have five minutes, an hour, or an entire week to give, showing up matters. One conversation or one career story could be the moment a student thinks, "Wait... I could do that." Give what time you can. We'll help you make it count.

I HAVE 5 MINUTES

- Post on Social Media: Share why you love working in the industry and share a picture of you in your role!
 - Tag @SeedYourFuture
 - Add #GreenCareerWeek on your post
 - Use the "My Green Career is Pretty Cool" template created by Seed Your Future
 - Open the template, add your photo, update your title and add a description
 - Download and post!
- TECH TIP Reshare a Seed Your Future post and add one sentence about why your career or company matters. This increases the reach of all of the SYF posts!

I HAVE 60 MINUTES

Use it all at once or spread it across the week! Share a career, show behind the scenes, spotlight an employee, or connect with a classroom. An hour of your time could spark years of possibility for a student.

- Film a short video tour of your business/job and share it online!
- Bring Your Career to a Classroom: Spend an hour visiting a local class, in person or virtually, to share your career journey, show what your work looks like, and answer students' questions. Make sure to let the SYF staff know so we can share on socials!

I HAVE MORE TIME

Make every day of Green Career Week count! Plan a week of career spotlights, employee stories, behind-the-scenes moments, classroom connections, or hands-on experiences.

- Host a field trip. Invite local students to see your business in action.
- Create a Hands-On Experience Let students propagate plants, design an arrangement, test soil, explore irrigation technology, identify pests, design a landscape, or try another task connected directly to your work.
